Dan Patrick Endorsed by Greater Houston Builders Association

"He has made great strides maintaining housing attainability for all Texans."

HOUSTON, TX – Lt. Governor Dan Patrick announced today that he has been endorsed by the Greater Houston Builders Association HOME-PAC. In making the endorsement, GHBA HOME-PAC Chairman Jim Holcomb said:

"The Greater Houston Builders Association HOME-PAC proudly endorses Lieutenant Governor Dan Patrick for re-election. Lt. Governor Patrick continues to be dedicated to making housing affordability and property tax reform a top priority. He has made great strides maintaining housing attainability for all Texans as the Lt. Governor and we look forward to continuing to partner with him in the coming legislative session to ensure that burdensome government regulation does not stop the development of much needed new housing."

GHBA was chartered in 1941 and has over 1,400 member companies, making it the fourth largest builders association in the country and the largest in Texas.
