Patrick Completing Self-Quarantine Following Mild Symptoms of COVID-19

HOUSTON, TX – Texas Lieutenant Governor Dan Patrick’s campaign released the following statement:

“Governor Patrick experienced mild symptoms and tested positive for COVID-19 last week. He has subsequently tested negative and is completing his quarantine period.

“His symptoms were mild and no one else in the household was infected. He continues working from home and will return to a public schedule by the end of the week,” said Allen Blakemore, Patrick Campaign Senior Advisor.
